TEACHING (UN)DEMOCRATIC VALUES?

ARE TEACHERS ABLE?

How is it possible for educators – being themselves products of a system which made choice impossible – to be able to shape free people, able to carry out and embody alternative visions? (Z. Kwieciński, 1981)

Won't our enlightened plans to implement fully democratized and fully pluralistic model of general education collapse because of the poor condition of the Polish teacher? (J. Klamut, 1989 Round Table talks)
